Tragedy in Chapel Hill

Tragedy struck the Broughton Alumni family on February 10, 2015 with the loss of one of its younger members. Deah Shaddy Barakat. Deah, along with his wife, 21-year-old Yusor Mohammad Abu-Salha; and her sister, 19-year-old Razan Mohammad Abu-Salha were shot dead in their Chapel Hill apartment following an alleged parking dispute. A neighbor is facing three counts of first-degree murder in their deaths. Deah and his wife Yusor were both students of UNC Chapel Hill studying dentistry. Razan was a College of Design student at NC State University.

Deah graduated from NC State in 2014 where he was active in the Muslim Student's Association and club team basketball. He was very socially aware and worked diligently during his college career to raise awareness of the plight of Syrian refugees through the club basketball team he created. He even helped the Muslim Student's Association organize a yearly basketball tournament that donated proceeds toward that cause.

Deah's newlywed wife, Yusor, shared his commitment to community service as well. Deah and Yusor were organizing a trip to Turkey to provide free dental care to Syrian refugees hardest hit by the conflict in that region. Deah had a goal of raising $25,000 for this trip. After news of his tragic death made the national news, over $400,000 was contributed from around the world for this effort. This serves as further tribute to the kind of young man Deah was. Yusor regularly volunteered at food drives and mentored fellow students. All who knew her recognized her hard work ethic and charitable heart. The young couple had been married only six weeks when they were fatally shot.

The entire Broughton community is stunned by the news of his death. "Deah was very giving, selfless and funny, so funny - the kind of kid you could never stay mad at because he was so funny. He was truly selfless. Just last weekend he was handing out toothbrushes at the homeless shelter because that's just the kind of kid he was." reminisced Broughton humanities teacher Tina Bartlett.

The Broughton Alumni family is truly saddened by this tragic event. Deah was a genuine member of the local, national and world communities with a bright future ahead of him. Our hearts go out to all affected.

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Randy Worth '64, Alumni President

FRIENDS

About five years ago, Bob Ramseur ('62) organized a group of guys from the Broughton classes of 1960 through 1964 who gather once a month- January through October- at the PR for lunch. No formal organization, no dues, come if you can. In the last four years, the group (again, as many as can) has gone to an afternoon Durham Bulls game in lieu of the monthly PR gathering.

Jim Goodman ('61) has graciously welcomed the group to the Capitol Broadcasting suite for these outings. On Wednesday, May 27, 2015, and on a beautiful afternoon for baseball, about 20 of these fellows made the trip to enjoy one of these games. Among those attending was Bob Denlinger ('62).

After the game, Jim invited the group down to the field to give a tour and have a picture made from the Bulls dugout. When they had been on the field for only a few minutes, Bob Denlinger suffered a heart attack. Off duty policemen and paramedics were present, and they administered CPR. Bob was rushed to Duke Hospital but he never regained consciousness. Bob's wife, Ann, and his son, Chris were present with him when he passed away.

Bob was too young and too energetic to pass away. But think about it, he was with life-long friends he made at Broughton over 50 years ago and, as he was an athlete, (he was an integral part of Broughton's undefeated 1961 State Championship football team), he was following his lifelong passion for sports. We all should be so lucky.

What about a "take away" from this? Call up an old Broughton classmate or friend and go out to lunch. Stop talking about it or just thinking about it; just do it.

If you are interested in setting up a website for your class, contact Steve Stephenson, NBHS Class of '63, at 919-782-8944 or steveref45@bellsouth.net.

He has offered to lend a guiding hand.

BROUGHTON, MR. PUMPERNICKEL & THE BURLWOOD FOREST

I've never really been the type of person to give up. I'm not really sure why. Maybe it's because I'm a dreamer. When you have your head in the clouds, and you're looking down on what's ahead, nothing seems impossible, I guess.

Last fall, I had the opportunity to release my debut novel, Burlwood Forest. Even half a year later, I can barely believe it happened. It doesn't seem real. Burlwood Forest isn't just a book to me though. I know that probably sounds crazy, but it's true. When I think about where I've been, and where I want to be, I see myself in Burlwood Forest. It helps me understand why I do what I do. It helps me understand who I am.

My main character, Michael Pumpernickel, is a lot like I was when I entered Broughton. Scared, maybe a little uncertain. But throughout the course of the story, he meets people who make a profound impact on his life. That happened to me in high school. Growing up, I always knew I wanted to be an author. I just had no idea how it was going to happen. I guess you could say that I never doubted my dream. I just doubted myself.

I had the opportunity to be in Mrs. Winzeler's class a few different times. Looking back, it may have felt like she was just teaching us English or the newspaper business, but what we were really learning about was life. With every red pen mark (and there were many), and every rejected story idea (and there were few), she was making us into better writers. And I would say, into better people too.

I was able to meet with Mrs. Winzeler a few weeks ago. I hadn't seen her in years, but what struck me the most was how little she had changed. She was the same caring, intelligent person that I remembered. At the same time, I felt like I had changed so much. I was finally becoming the person she saw in me all along.

I am so thankful for this journey that I've been on. Do I know where it will take me? Definitely not. But that's half the fun! I can't tell you what your dream is, but never give up on it. Be the person you were created to be.

I hope you have a minute to check out Burlwood Forest. It's not the most conventional story, but then again, I hope yours isn't either. It's better that way! Thank you for your consideration. You can find Burlwood Forest on Amazon.com and Barnesandnoble.com.

REUNION REFLECTIONS

The Class of 1994 had a wonderful 20th reunion reconnecting with many old friends! The weekend kicked off Friday, October 17th at the BHS football game. Many classmates cheered on the Caps with their families and children. It was a great way to start off the weekend. Everyone then met up with a large crowd at Tyler's Tap Room. The night was filled with memories and laughter and went well into the night.

Saturday morning many classmates met at the school for a wonderful tour. Coach Spain kicked off the tour with a showing of the beautiful Hall of Fame outside of the gymnasium. Our former Principal, Diane Payne, also joined the tour! It was a true walk down memory lane that even included a tour of the bell tower. We reconvened behind the school for a picnic with our classmates and families. There was delicious food hosted by several food trucks and a DJ... and possibly some afternoon dancing!

Saturday night did not disappoint! The Class of 1994 turned out ready to catch up and literally dance the night away. We met at Natty Greene's just down the street from BHS. We had an incredible turnout. There were door prizes, a photo booth, and a great DJ. It was truly a wonderful night to catch up with so many dear friends. The DJ stopped playing at 1 am and Natty Greene's turned on the lights, but that didn't stop the Class off 1994. After some encouraging, the DJ played on until 2am to a packed dance floor of old friends making new memories.

The Class of 1994 can't wait for the next reunion! More to come...

Special Thanks

The Alumni Association would like to extend a warm Capitals Thank You to Ron Ellis, class of '58, for his contribution of Latipacs from 1930 and 1935. Ron's mother, Kathleen Bright King, was "Miss Pep" at Broughton in 1930. The Alumni Association always welcomes Latipac donations from all classes, but to get copies from Broughton's earliest years is very special.

Latipac Donation Thank You

Thanks to Susan Kay '73 who donated 6 Latipacs to the Association. Years ranged from 1938-1941 and 1969-1970.

Duplicate Latipacs turned into our office are taken to Broughton Guidance Counselor's office.

MR. AND MISS NEEDHAM BROUGHTON

William H. (Billy) Simpson & Hilman Thomas Watkins

Your Alumni Association photographer was again privileged to be at lunch with the Mr. and Miss Needham B. Broughton recipients for 1943, William H. (Billy) Simpson and Hilman Thomas Watkins. We met at the Blue Olive Restaurant in Durham in April. Also in attendance was Bill's wife, Edith, Carl Sapp '41, Jean Turner '41, and your photographer's wife, Muriel (Pueblo, CO, Central High '48).

A lot of stories were exchanged about the years at Broughton and beyond. Carl told stories about his and Jean's six years at Broughton (12th grade was added during their years at the school).

Hilman and Bill have had exciting lives since their days at Broughton. Hilman with four children, civic and church activities; Bill with World War II service, family plus civic and church activities, also.

Hilman lives in Durham at Croasdale Retirement Community and Bill and Edith reside on Mayview Road in Raleigh. Wishing them all many more lunches together!

EDITOR'S NOTE

As my first official act as editor of the Broughton Alumni Association newsletter, I would like to thank the people who have helped develop and nurture the Association from its inception. Thank you for the countless volunteer hours to help stitch the Broughton graduate community together. It has been my pleasure so far to learn from ones who came before me and carry their good work forward.

One of the most interesting aspects of participating in the Alumni Association is being connected to a continuous thread of history. We have association members, stories, photos and even Latipacs stretching from Broughton's first days all the way to today. Our oldest members and our newest members alike walked the halls of Broughton, all connected through history of having done so. When I recently became involved as the editor of the Alumni Association newsletter, I was particularly struck by that sense of history as I thumbed through 1930's Latipacs filled with notes from somebody's friends knowing that just in the other room, in a bookcase were the Latipacs from my years at Broughton also filled with notes from my friends. I realized the Alumni Association is a great way to connect to that thread of history. For the newest alumni, plugging into the Association gives you access to the earliest days of the school and all the history and knowledge since. For the older members, connecting with the recent grads are embarking to write. As editor of the newsletter, I will do my best to honor that history of our fine graduates, both new and old.

Towards that end, I thought I would share a bit about my relevant background. I worked for a local Spanish-language newspaper for a little over 5 years where I gained the vast majority of my editing and layout skills, such as they are. For my humble ability to string together words in patterns that happen to cause the mildest of pleasure in my readers, I have Broughton to thank. Mrs. Lloyd, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Schwall and Mrs. Nichols all provided me with the skills I needed to communicate via written word on a daily basis. I currently work in the healthcare software industry where many times the solution to a problem is not found in technology but rather a succinctly crafted sentence, paragraph or document. Where I am able to craft such grammatical creations, I have my English teachers to thank. Where I stumble, well, I must have been daydreaming the day one of my teachers taught me a better way.

Over the next few issues we will be making improvements to the way we distribute the newsletters. For those of us who want to continue to receive the printed newsletter, you do not need to do anything. Some of our readers, however, would prefer to receive the newsletter electronically. The Alumni Association will be bolstering our abilities to distribute the newsletter electronically and also track our alumni's delivery preferences. We will be enlisting a team of folks to help us, but if you would like to contribute as well, your help would always be welcome. Your feedback is always welcome, and indeed, we encourage Association members to write in to us. I look forward to hearing from you.

*Kind Regards,
Matt Leary, Class of '93*

DECADE CHALLENGE

Our Decade Challenge has come to a close. There was some heated competition, but in the end, the 60's came away with first Decade Challenge Award. The 1960's definitely showed their team spirit this year. Way to go! The Alumni Association would like to thank all of the donors (tortoises and hares alike) who participated; all of your donations are very much appreciated. The heralded Decade Challenge Plaque seen at right shows the winners of the very first Challenge. The plaque will be awarded to the Decade Captains and will be hung in the NBHS halls until the next challenge. Will you be up to representing your decade when it comes again?

Part 4

Finally, seniors at last!!! March into chapel to “Pomp and Circumstance,” sitting down front, our president, our programs, our school!! “Peg o’ My Heart,” “Mona Lisa,” and “Ma’m’selle,” and “I’m Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover,” were popular songs and the singers were coming on strong: Como, Sinatra, Crosby, Stafford, Clooney, Shore, and Patti Page. Big bands still had their place and provided the music to dance to. (Miss Penny would love that sentence.) There were dances, parties, exams, and report cards. There was Miss Penny and Gilmartin, Miss Runion and the window shade cord, and Miss McDearman dealing with match sticks in the chemistry lab faucet. There was Ira Baker teaching “phys. ed.,” and Miss Cogdell still teaching triangles. There was Lee Stone saying “pick a daisy” and Mrs. Ladu saying “Buenos dias.”

One member of the class graduated because he was willing to do the “Mexican Hat Dance” in chapel. The Hi Y Minstrel could never be performed today. Gas was fifteen cents and nobody single-dated, either from fear or it was more fun with a crowd – or else you needed to share the cost of gas with someone.

The football team did well and played for the eastern championship against a strong Fayetteville “Bulldog” eleven with “Nub” Smith and Babyface” Butler leading their team. Johnny Guyton scored two touchdowns in the second half after we had scored two in the first five minutes. The difference was one extra point and they walked away with a 13-12 victory before a homecoming crowd of 18,000 in Rid-dick Stadium.

The basketball team went 17 and 7 and beat Hugh Morson in the Memorial Auditorium for the city championship led by Boles, Barham, Buchanan and crew. Joe Holliday was coach and future principal at Broughton. Penny loafers, cashmere sweaters (who had one?), and khaki pants were in, and angora sweaters sure did wonders for a girl’s figure. Converse All-Stars were the shoes, a long way from Air-Jordans, both in look and price.

Senior week was exciting with the picnic at Umstead, class night, caps and gowns, and reminiscence. We remember “Now Is the Hour” and that last walk down the aisle. What a magic time for growing up in Raleigh and going to high school at Needham B. Broughton!!!!

Miss Penny's Rules 1-4 of 12

Many of us who attended Broughton had the pleasure of knowing Miss Penny. Miss Penny instilled a keen respect for grammar in her many students over the years. This is our salute to Miss Penny and her 12 comma rules. In reviewing these rules, those of us who knew her will remember fondly their time with her at Broughton. For those of us who did not have her as a teacher, know that she was one of the good ones. We can all benefit from a refresher on the comma rules regardless of whether we knew her or not. Only one of the rules has fallen out of favor since these were first crafted and mimeographed by Miss Penny herself. Can you spot it? The information below was transcribed from one of these mimeographed copies. The newsletter team will be publishing the rules serially over the next few issues.

Enjoy!

1. Place a comma before a coordinate conjunction (and, but, for, nor, or) when it joins two closely related sentences.
 - a. Master the requirements of a good paragraph, or you may never be able to write an interesting one.
 - b. I read several novels by Steinbeck, for he is one of my favorite authors.
 - c. The rain fell lightly and persistently, but the grass refused to grow.
 - d. The wind rose and the rain fell. (The sentence is too short for to need a comma.)
 - e. He went off to school at the beginning of September and did not return until June 1. (A comma before and is unnecessary, since the conjunction joins two predicates rather than two sentences.)
2. Place a semicolon between two closely related sentences not joined by a coordinate conjunction.
 - a. NOTE: The second part of the sentence may or may not begin with a conjunctive adverb (hence, still, consequently, also, yet, then, so, thus, however, moreover, therefore, nevertheless, accordingly.) Use the semicolon accordingly to the rule and place a comma after the conjunctive adverb only if it consists of three or more syllables. Memorize the conjunctive adverbs, since semicolons precede them when they introduce independent clauses within compound sentences.
 - b. Hemingway's style is concise; his diction is conversational.
 - c. Reading for an accumulation of facts is worthwhile, however, understanding the author's purpose is also important.

- d. The snow had stopped falling; nevertheless, we stuck to our frail shelter as if it were home.
 - e. We have only one life to live, yet we make many unnecessary mistakes.
3. Place a semicolon before a coordinate conjunction that joins two closely related sentences if there is internal punctuation or if the sentence is very long.
 - a. Our God is a God of salvation; and to God, the Lord, belongs escape from death, Psalms 68:20
 - b. Having had little sleep for two days, I was unprepared for geometry, English, and History; but my teachers were unmoved by my plight.
 4. Place a comma after an introductory adverbial clause, or a long introductory phrase, or any introductory phrase containing a verbal.
 - a. Note: Remember that an adverbial clause usually begins with a subordinate conjunction, such as when, if, but that, so that, that, whether, since*, although*, whereas*, as*, because*. Starred subordinate conjunctions introduce nonessential adverbial clauses, set off with commas, when these clauses add a thought.
 - b. Though no man can achieve perfection in this life, he may still strive constantly toward it. (Introductory adverbial clause)
 - c. To learn steadily, one must work diligently. (Introductory phrase with adverbial-infinitive phrase)
 - d. Walking in the rain is his chief pleasure. (No commas, since the introductory phrase is used as subject)
 - e. World War II having ended, people throughout the world rejoiced. (Introductory absolute phrase)
 - f. In the untamed wilderness of the Northwest, he built a combined fort and fur-trading post. (Long introductory phrase).

ALUMNI DECADE CAPTAINS

Alumni Decade Captains were created to assist the class agents with their reunions. For each five-year period, one captain is designated as the liaison between the agents and the Association. Included in their duties are encouraging classes to have reunions, submitting scheduling, updates in planning and write-ups (including photos) of reunions held to the Association for inclusion in the semi-annual newsletters.

Below are the decade captains who have graciously volunteered to serve as liaisons to the Reunion Committee. Contact your decade captain if you are unable to contact your class agent.
